YPSILANTI RECYCLING PROJECT

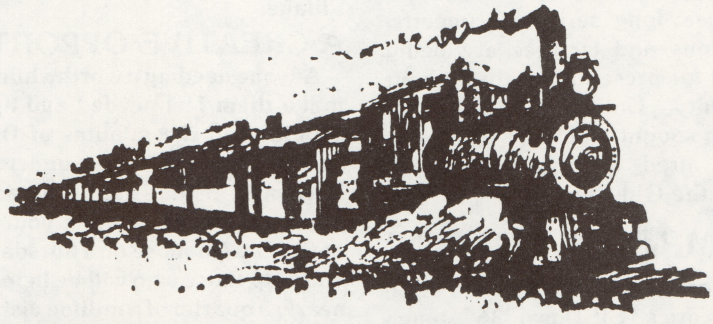
RECYCLE WEEK MAY 3 - 10

The Ypsilanti Recycling Center will celebrate winning a $25,000 grant from the Michigan Department of Natural Resources with a 'tree give-away' during their week-long celebration.

The Ark to join DTA/WEMU at Frog Island

June's Annual Frog Island Tent Jazz Festival will continue to be an all-day highlight for jazz afficianadoes as it enters it's fifth successful year on Saturday, June 28, but this year's event will be augmented by the addition of a Sunday program of folk music and comedy by Ann Arbor's Ark Coffee House on June 29.

After more than a year of negotiations, WEMU/DTA and The Ark have formalized a relationship to share many of the facilities and preparations for what will be a unique blending of outdoor entertainment for southeastern Michigan.



///Artrain

To be Sponsored By Eastern Michigan University

THE MICHIGAN ARTRAIN will be sitting on the the Depot Town siding this August as one of the main attractions of the 1986 Heritage Festival. The only traveling exhibition of its kind first stopped in ypsilanti in 1971 and called attention to this fallen-down commercial district. When it came back in 1981, the neighborhood had changed and the celebration thanked ARTRAIN for its pivotal role in the improvement to the district. Now, in its third visit to Ypsilanti, ARTRAIN is just one more stellar attraction at the community's spectacular celebrations of its annual Heritage Festival. Festival.

BEVERLY SHANKWILER, whose home at 52½ was the original 'home base' for the first ARTRAIN visit and who was Depot Town Association's second president, has been preparing her sculptural 'installation' for this year's Festival. She asked her employers (EMU) what they planned to do to help. "What can we do?" replied Roy Wilbanks, assistant to EMU president John Porter.

"Why not sponsor the Michigan ARTRAIN?" was Bev's retort.

With just such a conversation, the intimacy of community, university and the arts was once again underlined in Ypsilanti. EMU's $4500 investment in this endeavor will make it possible for Ypsilanti residents and the summer tourist influx to examine a first-class presentation of the arts.

MALARKEY IN KAZOO

Depot Town's 'Perfessor Malarkey' made several featured appearances at April's Michigan Conference on Tourism in Kalamazoo. The well-known and colorful local character found an eager and enthusiastic audience among all those bragging about their own attractions state-wide. Malarkey's alter ego, a.k.a. Jerry Meadows, testified that playing the role made entry to new groups and conversations far easier that 'doing it straight.'

Although DTA approved $300 for the junket, The 'Perfesser' turned in a bill for fifty bucks. With his assertive buster-style, it's a wonder he didn't make a profit at the event. We're sure that the neighborhood profited by the experience.

Chamber Music Proposed

If jazz will sell in this old neighborhood, why not Chamber Music? That's what representatives from the New York Chamber Music Society proposed last month to Depot Town's jazz entrepreneurs. A year-long series of concerts, demonstrations and lectures are being investigated for presentation throughout the community. University sponsorship is also being sought and more proposals should be aired at those Thursday meetings in the Old Caboose.

DELCAMP IN 'SIT-DOWN'

John Delcamp will appear in Performance Network's "Sit-Down '36", a new play directed by Jim Moran. John is a regular Depot Town performer, sitting-in at Aubree's open mike night, running kids' talent shows, and organizing the Heritage Festival entertainment stage. He will be acting, playing and singing in the new production. Watch the papers for performance times.

BUMS, TRAMPS, AND HOBOES TO RETURN IN JULY

Planning for July 18 -20 BOOMER DAYS celebration has already begun. Aubree's will again sponsor the Carp for Kids contest on July 19. Coordinator Bonni Rosen-Fine solicits your assistance for the many activities which make this mid-summer event such a unique 'happening' for the district. Ideas so far: talent show, carp contest, odd jobs, hobo king & queen, Boomer Boutique rummage sale, depot burning, bums' rush and more. Many helpers are needed. Call Bonni with your ideas and help at 434-6527.

Southeast Michigan TRAVEL FUN says, "In Ypsilanti (pronounced 'ip,' not 'yip') history still lives in the Depot Town section, an assortment of shops housed in renovated 19th Century buildings. There is also a fine historical museum and a museum housing the largest collection of antique cars, trucks and fire equipment in the midwest.

Summertimes in "Ypsi" are a year around treat highlighted by the yearly Heritage Festival, a charming celebration of Ypsilanti's past..."

TRAVEL FUN is a publication of the Southeastern Michigan Visitors and Tourist Bureau. Raymond Woodruff picked up a copy of the 'slicker' while on a recent trip to Dearborn's Greenfield Village.

A CREATIVE OPPORTUNITY

Anyone needing a worthwhile activity to make them feel needed and appreciated should read the minutes of DTA's April 17th meeting. Look under 'Heritage Festival'. If that list of fantastic events piques your interest, join your neighbors at the Old Caboose on Thursday evenings and help those who will be helping to host nearly a quarter of a million visitors to Our Town at the end of August. And that's just the events which will happen in Depot Town!

If you require still more stimulation, join the rest of the City at the Festival planning committee sessions every Thursday at 5 p.m. in the Chamber of Commerce meeting room at 11 North Adams. There's an awful lot of preparation to be done, and you are needed by your neighbors!

Depot Towners who run businesses will be 'on' for the whole Heritage Festival weekend, but they can certainly make their contribution this month. Don't miss these excellent opportunities to help promote your neighborhood and City.

THANKS

THANKS FROM THE COFFEE SHOP to Norma, Angell, the Woodruffs, and everyone else who helped out during Estelle Sutherland's recent illness. Her warm reception was continued and the Coffee Shop continues to be one of the block's unique places to visit with neighbors on Wednesdays and Saturdays.

Dear Friends:

Greatly enjoyed last month's Rag. As for the map depicting Ypsilanti, Ypsilanti Twp. and Superior Twp. as one entity, we could have a drawing to determine who should be 'Mayorvisor' of Woodruff's Grove (New name of all three municipalities together) for a month. When our elected officials see how efficient and successful everything runs, they will exercise common sense and make it work permanently. (Sorry, I guess I lost my head for a moment.)

Best to you
Rich Baird

(Baird was head of Ypsilanti's Visitors & Convention Bureau a few years ago, and will be a Vice President of General Motors very soon. ed.)

At This Stage: HOLLYWOOD OR DEPOT TOWN?

The Follett House Ballroom must feel that the 'good old days' never ended. It was added-on to the fanciest hotel between Detroit and Chicago in order to increase tourism in the area and featured such 'name acts' as the William F. Cody/Buffalo Bill Wild West Show (indoors!), Jenny Lynd, The Swiss Family Bell Ringers, the Paris Opera Troupe, and the original Christie Minstrels.

The tradition continues, today, with a whole community of contemporary show-offs. Here's the first list that comes to mind:

- Jim Dulzo and Carolyn McKeever, producers of Jazz: the Frog Island Jazz Festival, the Heritage Jazz Competition, the Winter Jazz Series
- Trinidad Tripoli Steel Drum Band
- Aubree's Second Floor Jazz Club
- Ypsilanti Area Dancers
- Ypsilanti Players
- Ypsilanti Choral Singers
- Ypsilanti Community Band & Chorus
- Aubree's Open Mike Night Showcase for amateurs and profoccionals
- Old Town Restaurant's Soap Opera Stars
- Professor Malarkey - a 'street buster' in the old tradition
- Script Writer/producer Ed Penez
- Fantasee Lighting - World-wide business in stage and theatrical production lighting
- Ike Rednour's (Ike, the barber) son, TV producer
- Bob Fox, funny man, writer, photographer published in national magazines
- The Ark - Coffee House and Folk Music showcase with national recognition
- Michigan Artrain - in its third appearance with a train-load of world-class art

WCA Washtenaw Council for the Arts

ARTS COUNCIL IN THE CABOOSE

The April 7th meeting of the board of directors of the Washtenaw Council for the Arts was held in the home of one of its member gorups: the DTA Caboose. Also in attendance were Ron Miller, from the Ypsilanti Heritage Festival Committee, and Teddy Liskow, from the Ypsilanti Players. Other Ypsilanti members of the WCA include the Ypsilanti Area Dancers, the Ypsilanti Choral Association, Inc.

D.T.A. JOINS CHAMBER

It took ten year's activity for this little neighborhood organization to be recognized by the local chamber of commerce and invited to join. We're in good company.

In his mid-year 'report to investors,' Chamber President Andrew Komblevitz said, "Membership has grown to an all-time high. Record numbers of people are attending our membership events, including monthly Business After Hours and the First Tuesday General Membership breakfast meetings."

The Chamber now has 510 members, representing over 900 individuals; an all-time record. 75 new members were reported in October — most were recruited during the highly successful 2½ day tele-marketing campaign.

FREE TREES GIVEN TO RECYCLERS

On May 3rd, the Ypsilanti Recycling Project will kick off Michigan Recycling Week by having a free tree give-away. On this day, any recyclers who bring down their bagged or tied newspapers, glass, motor oil, and flattened tin cans will receive a Silky Dogwood or Norway Spruce as a gesture of appreciation. These trees symbolize the trees saved because of the community's wise recycling involvement.

This could be the perfect opportunity for spring cleaners to take down their recycleable goods and join in the lively springtime spirit of the Depot Town Community.

The YRP is also working with Washtenaw County to try and coordinate a household hazardous waste collection day in Ypsilanti. This will give the community a chance to properly dispose of any paints, thinners, pesticides, solvents, and other household hazardous wastes that have been accumulating in basements or garages for the last few years. Watch the local papers and community bulletin boards or check at the Recycling Center for an exact date and location. It is vital that these substances are properly disposed of or reused. Sending them to a landfill does not assure us that they will not eventually leach into nearby wells.

Bob Morningstar says, "The only way we can assure the continued recycling alternative to this community is by more participation from area citizens. We appeal to those who don't currently recycle to please consider and ask that those who currently recycle try to recruit at least one friend."

The Ypsilanti Recycling center is located at 20 East Cross Street - behind City Body Shop - and is open every Saturday from 9 am until 3 pm.

'TWENTY-NINE' IS FALLING DOWN, MY FAIR LADY

It may look like a pen for alligators, mud wrestling or dog fights, but that City-installed barricade which prohibits pedestrian traffic from using the walkway between James MacDonald Antiques and the Depot Town Auction House is there to provide the perfect gallery for this summer's sidewalk superintendents while watching the rehab work on 29 East Cross Street.

When a fire destroyed the building at number 31 about fifteen years ago, the adjacent inside walls became exterior walls – but they were not really intended as outside structual elements. Freezing and thawing over the years have caused them to shift and turn, pitching the southeast corner toward the street. Owners, Gary and Carolyn McKeever, will be working with their architects and contractors this building session to 1) repair, 2) replace or 3) remove the problem. Watch that space.

REUNION ON DECK

Depot Town's first project of the building season was the replacement of the rear deck at 52½ East Cross. Shankwiler's ARTRAIN building was the first 'old building' to be rehabilitated on the block, and now, even the 'new stuff' needs work. The second floor deck was ripped out and replaced in one weekend – and the work crew seemed a reunion of Depot Town experts: Craig Shankwiler, David Loomis and Tim Vachon. Between them, they've had a hand in nearly every project in the last fifteen years.

T.H.E. COMPANY (Therapeutic Health Equipment) is the principal distributor of chiropractic tables in Michigan, with an exclusive contract with the Zenith Company. Owner, Ray Packer, has investments up and down the block. Ray's son, Bob, owns and operates THE VITAMIN SHOPPE right next door, but T.H.E. MARKET is no longer part of the Packer operation.

That acronym still stands for The Health Emporium (Market) and offers one of the most complete small deli-grocery lines to be found anywhere.

MAY IS THE TIME for Depot Towners to start digging up the beds, barrels and planters up and down the block in preparation for summer blooms. Some have said no other amenity better reflects the district's rebirth. Choose a planting space for yourself - or share it with a neighbor. Some folks trade off duties: one will prepare the earth, another will plant, still others will water and weed throughout the summer. Many of our neighbors go together on the cost of bulbs, plants or seeds. It's another of Depot Town's 'newer traditions.' Join in on the fun and you'll make a great contribution to the district's warmth and color.

COFFEE SHOP PAINTED

Farmers' Market goers have been following the interior decorating progress of Bob Morningstar and his helpers from the Sheriff's Department crew in the painting of the Freight House Coffee Shop. Replacing the two-tone green patina is a lovely combination which has given rise to much speculation among the Saturday morning crowd.

Since no one has read the color names from the can, they have been suggesting some of their own: Sassy Brown and Sage Beige, Praire Brown, Colonial Brown, Hawthorne or Huron River Brown, Torrid Tan, Prairie Sand, Regulation Brown, Depot Town Brown, Railroad Brown, Campaign Tan, Passion Cream and Purgatory Brown, Creation Cream, Finch Yellow, Apricot and Potato, Sunshine and Satin. Take a look. You name it; it's gorgeous.
